

Trace Register and GFT's Ipura sign agreement

SEAFOOD.COM NEWS [SEAFOODNEWS.COM] - JULY 30, 2010 ð TRACE REGISTER AND GLOBAL Food Technologies, maker of the iPura brand turnkey anti-microbial system, have signed an agreement where GFT will use Trace Register systems in their turnkey food safety and quality assurance programs.

GFT supplies a turnkey food safety system involving equipment and applications of FDA approved anti-microbial agents, along with process controls that reduce contamination. GFT also provides its customers continuous monitoring of food safety.

They will now add the web based traceability system provided by Trace Register. It is the most robust traceability platform and the most suited to our needs, said GFT CEO Keith Meeks.

Trace register, based in Seattle, is now used by over 400 companies globally for tracking and traceability. They have also partnered with organizations such as the Aquaculture Certification Council of the GAA.

---

John Sackton, Editor And Publisher
[Seafood.com News](http://Seafood.com News) 1-781-861-1441
Email comments to jsackton@seafood.com

Soruce: Seafood.com News